I hear leaves drinking rain;

I hear rich leaves on top

Giving the poor beneath

Drop after drop;

'Tis a sweet noise to hear

These green leaves drinking near.

And when the sun comes out,

After this rain shall stop,

A wonderous light will fill

Each dark, round drop

I hope the sun shines bright;

'Twill be a lovely sight.

There is no doubt that people are growing more and more interested in the seas and that there is a great need for that interest. Men have long tried to probe the secrets of the ocean to gain knowledge for its own sake, but there are other practical reasons for doing so. The sea can provide us with many things that we need in everyday life.

Future generations will probably draw far more on the seas for their food, and not only food in the form of fish. Minerals necessary for modern industries are there also, when we can find out how to extract them.

Questions :

68. What will the future generations do to draw far more on the seas ?

- (A) They will inquire into the secrets of ocean.
 (B) They will use seafish as food and extract sea minerals for modern industries.
 (C) They will chiefly depend on seafish as their food.
 (D) They will turn to the sea to fulfil some needs of their everyday life.

69. "... draw far more on the seas..."

What does 'draw on' here mean ?

(A) to come near

(B) to depend

(C) to extract

(D) to use as a source
