Directions: Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

St Nicholas aka Santa Claus is believed to have lived around 300 AD in Patara, in modern-day Turkey. He was the Bishop of Myra, famous for his good work among the poor, his love of children, and his giving of gifts to the needy. He is typically depicted as a slim figure clad in the red and gold robes of his religious office. So how did this rather staid image transform into jolly Christmas Eve figure we know now? Here's a look at the evolution of Santa Claus.

13th century: Nicholas, the Bishop of Myra was canonised or declared a saint in the first millennium. By the 13th century, the Dutch were celebrating a tradition in his honour of putting coins in tattered shoes left outside the homes of the poor. Over time, St Nicholas became Sinterklaas. To this day, the official Sinterklaas of The Netherlands is a rather trim, bishop-ly figure in a white robe, red cloak and bishop's mitre, with almost-regal long white hair and beard. He travels by white horse.

16th century: St Nicholas is now popular across Europe. The Dutch Sinterklaas has, in many regions, become Santa Claus.
